

Collegiate Player Remains in School with Help from JSA

An NCAA student-athlete was projected to be a top first-round draft choice in the NFL Draft after his junior season. Wanting to possibly win the Heisman Trophy and a National Championship, the player approached JSA about how he could be protected if he chose to stay in school for his senior season.

Working with the school and the player's family, JSA designed a program to satisfy the player's insurance objectives so that he could remain in school and play out his eligibility with the peace of mind of knowing that his future earnings as an NFL player were protected. Although his team just missed winning the National Championship, the player went on to be a top-10 draft choice in the NFL Draft.

Once in the NFL, the player also used JSA as his insurance broker to satisfy the insurance provisions mandated by his NFL player's contract.